Meet Mandy!

We're delighted to introduce Mandy to you as part of the Gaia Education team as an English and Humanities educator.

English and Humanities Educator

Mandy brings over 35 years of teaching experience across a wide range of educational settings. Her main subject is English, and she also teaches Humanities and Media Studies.

Her experience includes seven years teaching in a specialist school for the National Autism Society, supporting autistic learners, which Mandy found very rewarding.

Mandy believes in being a lifelong learner and loves discovering the ideas young people bring to lessons. She enjoys learning alongside her learners and hearing their perspectives.

Outside work, Mandy loves spending time outdoors, whether hiking, camping or walking dogs. She is also an avid reader who enjoys all sorts of books, and loves visiting the theatre, exploring museums and going to concerts.
